

RailGallery Stock Library product licence

Job reference number      Date issued      This product licence includes the following file(s):

This licence is issued to (the client)

Your account manager will send you a licence along with the product(s) shortly.

The client must agree and adhere to the terms and conditions of this product licence. All internally assigned third parties including (and not limited to) communication agencies, graphic or content designers share the same responsibilities and obligations.

Terms and conditions

1. Product(s) may be:

- a. Used by the client only under this product licence,
- b. Cropped, resized or colour-graded to suit the print and online requirements,
- c. Stored and distributed the product(s) internally, and if applicable, share only with its internally assigned third parties for design and communication purposes.

2. Product(s) must not be:

- a. Redistributed, sold, given, lent, shared to any person or other organisation other than the client (as addressed above). This includes (and not limited to) suppliers, manufacturers, working/ trading partners, interest groups, industry bodies, event or trade show organisations.

* Product(s) refers to any RailGallery photographs and videos listed in the stock library and RailGallery stock content.

Validity

From the time of releasing the product(s), the validity of the licence is 50 years for multiple use. No royalty payment to RailGallery is required during this period. The client may seek an extension of this period, a separate agreement will be drawn.

Copyright and trademark notice

RailGallery is the copyright owner for the product(s) listed above. This agreement is protected by the "Copyright Act 1968 (Commonwealth)" unless other agreement arranged.

As a result of international treaties, Australian copyright owners are protected in most other countries, and most foreign copyright owners are protected in Australia. Failure to adhere to these terms and conditions may lead to severe legal obligations.

All trademarks, service marks, trade names, trade dress, product names and logos appearing in our website and content are the property of their respective owners. We advise you to consult with these owners before publishing any of these content.

Questions

Should you have further questions, please contact RailGallery.
(02) 6100 8360 or ask@railgallery.com.au.